OBJECTIVE

Destroy three of your opponent's five Stones.

COMPONENTS

1

hexhex-5 board

10Stones, one colour per player12

neutral Men

SETUP

- 1 Players each take six Men and five Stones of one colour and sit opposite each other.
- 2 Distribute your pieces along the two rows closest to you, as shown in the diagram to the right.
- 3 Choose sides. Black begins.

STARTING POSITION

○ White Stone ● Black Stone ○ Neutral Man

PLAY

TURNS · MOVEMENT · SLINGING

ON YOUR TURN

You must take one or two actions in any combination: move a Man or sling a Stone.

You may move two different pieces, or the same piece twice.

You may not move a piece back to the space it just left on that turn.

If you are unable to move on your turn, play passes to your opponent.

MOVING A MAN

A Man moves any number of empty spaces in a straight line, like a Queen in Chess. He may not jump over other pieces, and he must end on an empty space.

If a Man is directly adjacent to...

NO STONES He is neutral — either player may move him.

ONLY YOUR STONES He works for you — only you may move him.

BOTH COLOR STONES He is occupied — neither player may move him.

SLINGING A STONE

A Stone is slung in a straight line exactly as many spaces as there are Men directly adjacent to it.

A Stone passes over any piece in its path, but may not end its movement on a Man or on a Stone of the same colour.

A Stone destroys an enemy Stone by landing directly on its space. The destroyed Stone is removed from the board.

A Stone with no adjacent pieces cannot be slung.

KEY RULE

When one or more Men are adjacent to a Stone, a Trebuchet has been built — and a Trebuchet can sling.

GAME END

The first player to destroy three enemy Stones wins.

DRAW

The same board position repeated three times across subsequent turns forces a draw.

A GAME-WINNING TURN

EXAMPLE

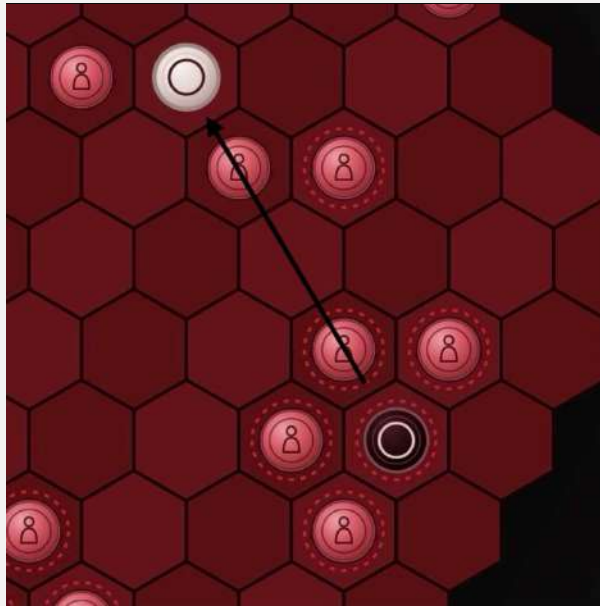

It is Black's turn. White and Black have each destroyed two Stones — the next Stone destroyed ends the game.

01 REPOSITION

Black moves a Man in beside his right-most Stone as the first of his two actions.

02 TAKE AIM

That Stone now has the support of four Men — a range of exactly four spaces, putting White in reach.

03 SLING — AND WIN
